

the trustees have reason to believe that a decision taken by them might be subsequently challenged in the courts; and the trustees wish to use the 'authority' of the company h

